CONSTITUTIONAL CHANGE, TAXATION LOOM IN THE STATE

Two Most Important Matters
Now Confronting The Legislators

WERE SECONDARY

Indicated Intention of Earle Is
"Open" Affair at
Special Session

By Arthur H. Wakelee
L. N. S. Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Nov. 26.—(INS).—Constitutional revision or amendment, and taxation, only a few weeks ago, secondary items, today loomed as two of the most important matters of legislators for the special session of the General Assembly to be held early in 1936.

Called up by the State Supreme Court's rejection of the graduated personal income tax act as unconstitutional, the indication that revision or amendment of the State Constitution to permit graduated levies would be thrown into the political cauldron was given by Gov. George H. Earle himself.

Speaking in Philadelphia last night, the Governor said that "Within the next few weeks," he would "most seriously consider the question of including in the call for a special legislative session early next year the subject of constitutional revision or constitutional amendment."

If carried out, the Governor's indicated intention would make the special session virtually an "open" affair, as it would raise for reconsideration four of the main subjects before the Legislature during last Spring's regular meeting.

When the extraordinary meeting of the legislators was first announced as being definite, only two subjects—legislation for the social security program and unemployment relief—were listed as positive items to be taken up. Events of the past few weeks, climaxed by the Supreme Court's decision yesterday, have broadened the scope of the session.

Every indication points to the selection of constitutional revision by the Governor in charting his future course of action. This issue, rejected by the electorate once during the Earle Administration, could not be voted on as an amendment before 1938, but should the Legislature go along with the Governor in his expected program, it could be brought up for vote at a special election during 1936.

Already on record as opposed to increased taxes and definitely hostile to such levies as a flat income tax and a sales tax, the Administration is anxious to "legalize" the graduated income tax. This levy, it feels, represents the best form of tax on the basis of "ability to pay."

Under the graduated tax levy, approximately $20,000,000 would have been raised annually and earmarked for school districts, on the basis of population, to lessen the real estate tax burden. Governor Earle said rejection of the program meant the annual reduction in the real estate tax load could not be accomplished.

In addition to broadening the scope of the forthcoming special session, the Supreme Court's decision has imposed additional difficulties on first class school districts of the State. Having counted on the revenues to be provided by the income tax, these districts have only a week to revise their budgets for the coming year. Other districts do not reach their budget "deadlines" until next May 31.

The State budget, however, is not affected by the decision. But pressing matters in providing for relief after the first of the year will see the tax program threshed out in full during the special session.

Meanwhile, a Federal check for $1,030,000 has been received to augment the States relief funds from the Federal Government for November. The contribution brought the total amount of money received by Pennsylvania during the current month to $8,111,925.

REVEAL ATTEMPT TO AID GANGSTERS' ESCAPE

Precautions Taken To Guard Against Plot to Massacre
State Troopers

PLANS ARE CHANGED

By International News Service

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—Precautions to guard against a plot to massacre state troopers in a desperate attempt to extend Francis Wiley and Martin Farrell's lives were being taken today.

The plan was revealed in an anonymous telephone call to Frank Costa, chief investigator for the Pardon Board which helped sentence members of the mob headed by Robert "Killer" Mais and Walter Legenza. Mais and Legenza were electrocuted last February for the murder of a bank guard, and Wiley and Farrell are to be executed next week for the slaying of William "Big Nose" Weiss.

Extra guards have been thrown about the segregated cells of Wiley and Farrell, and plans for driving them to Bellefonte on Saturday have been changed. The automobile in which they will ride with the usual three guards and a driver will be accompanied by an escort of two cars, each bearing state troopers with machine guns.

The anonymous telephone call said: "I am a friend of yours. You did a favor for me once. I understand a gang is going to kill the men accompanying the gangsters. Heres a tip—don't go. The guards will be bumped off, and Wiley and Farrell will escape."

Liquor Store to Move to Mill and Wood Street Store

Extensive alterations are being made to the property at Mill and Wood streets, formerly occupied by Downing's feed store.

There are to be two stores and four apartments constructed and one of the stores is to be occupied by the State Liquor store, which will move from its present location on Bath street. The corner store will be for rent.

The work is being done by Howard I. Leister, contractor of Croymond.

Information Lodged Against The Steward

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 26.—Abram S. Kriebel, steward at the Bucks County Home, on information lodged by Elias Chittick, the head farmer at the home, was charged by Chittick with the offense of fraudulent conversion, alleging that within the past two years Kriebel received money from sale of produce for which he has not accounted to the Board of Poor Directors.

The specific items Chittick charges Kriebel received from sale of produce and did not account for to the Poor Directors, were the sum of $87 on January 24, 1934, the sum of $95 on March 22, 1934, and the sum of $42.50 on February 11, 1935. The matter was brought before Justice of the Peace Irvin M. James, Doylestown, who set tomorrow for the hearing.

Mr. Kriebel, when interviewed, stated it was not true that the above sums have not been paid and accounted for to the Board of Poor Directors, as the records of the board will show.

Mrs. A. Oscar Martin, president of the Board of Poor Directors, confirmed his statement, and stated that since the charges made before the election against the Steward, the board has been investigating the same and will continue to make a thorough investigation and make a report thereof.

OTHER THAN MORRISVILLE MEN ARE EMPLOYED ON WPA PROJECT WHICH GETS UNDER WAY IN THAT BOROUGH; NINE LOCAL MEN IN FORTY

Workmen Are Brought From Other Sections In County

LOCAL MEN WORKLESS

Police Sergeant to Address a Meeting of the Parents and Teachers

MORRISVILLE, Nov. 26.—There is a great deal of criticism here over the employment of so many outside men on the W. P. A. projects here. On the water main job there are only nine men out of 40 on the work who are from this place. The others come from other sections of Bucks County. More men will be added to this job as the work progresses but it is said these will be brought here from other places. The complaint says that there are many Morrisville men unemployed who have registered and re-registered but cannot get employment while outsiders are brought here.

All the projects set up for the Board of Education have been approved and all except one is in operation. This will be started within a few weeks and will include the grading of the school grounds in front of the Robert Morris High School, widening of the driveway, laying gutters along the driveway, building a concrete walk from the girls entrance to Clymer avenue, a concrete walk from the girls' entrance to Hillcrest avenue, and the laying of sidewalks, curbs and gutters around the high school. This will include Clymer avenue from Legion to Harper; Legion avenue from Hillcrest to Clymer and Harper avenue. Sidewalks, curbs and gutters have already been laid on Hillcrest avenue. This improvement will complete the improvement around the high school grounds.

Common Council has set up a plot for the improvement of the streets around the high school in keeping with the school authorities' plan for placing sidewalks, curbs and gutters, but just when the street plan will be submitted to the W. P. A. officials for approval has not been ascertained.

One of the projects which began this morning, provides for the painting of the exterior of the William E. Case grammar school and the Robert Morris high school, including the windows and doors, cornices, cupolas, valleys, spouting, ventilators, railings and electric light standards. It also provides for the calking of the window panes, glazing and putting where necessary, repairs to the high school entrance door, rewiring two electric standards, install new rain conductors and repointing stone at the William E. Case building.

The job calls for five painters, one cement finisher, one carpenter, one electrician, one roofer, one general foreman and one timekeeper. Labor will cost $1870.30. Men are also at work repointing the brick work on the school administration building and the woodwork will also be painted on the outside. In the high school painters

Anglo-French Aid Promised

Washington, Nov. 26.—France and Great Britain threaten to aid the United States "holding the bag" in the League of Nations' economic war against Italy it was learned at the State Department today.

Officials still were seeking a clarification of the decision to postpone other raw material embargoes against Italy after this government brought pressure to bear on American trade supplies.

In an effort to emphasize the nature of this government's move, and the point that the moves were not prompted by the League actions was continued as a result of the Anglo-French move.

This government will continue to discourage abnormal shipment to Italy for war supplies, of which copper iron and steel are included.

Nevertheless the State Department was obviously concerned over the Anglo-French move which was regarded as an omen that Britain and France would not run out on the United States if it suited their interests.

HOLIDAY TRADE

The cheering news on prospects for holiday trade, is like the rays of the sun bursting through clouds after a storm. Surely the heavens are brightening, and many patches of blue sky already convey their shining message of hope.

Department store sales for October were seven per cent. greater than last year, while rural general merchandise sales are up 12 per cent. and automobile sales have increased 100 per cent.

According to standard principles of economics, there always comes a break in any period of depression, when the people get tired of hoarding money. During the first part of such a period, people's fears lead them to cling to their money, and many who could spend refuse to do so. Some of their fears are warranted, but in the main they are imaginary.

After a time things wear out as does also the patience of people in denying themselves things they need. They conclude they have only one life to live, and so the money comes out of the mattresses and the bank deposits, and goes into the channels of trade, and a new force of revival flows through the country.

Reports from many cities tell of many people in the streets and stores looking for goods. Christmas purchases are already being made, and should be made at once. The people see new signs of hope on every hand. Higher prices have helped the farmers, and they are paying old debts and buying new tools. Many more automobiles were produced and sold this year. Many old ones now in use are about ready to go to the dump, and new ones must be made to take their place. Holiday trade will be the best for four years, perhaps for five.

FOOTBALL MYSTERY

Although baseball is said to be the national game, nothing seems to cause quite so much excitement as the scene in the stadiums when two noted football teams meet. The emotion of the crowd reaches high pitch, and you would think the fate of nations was at stake.

In baseball, with the players spread out over the big field, you can see every play. The fine work done is instantly apparent. But in football, many spectators admit that they fail to see the ball as it is swiftly passed, and they can't tell who has it. All they can usually see is that after a few tense seconds, the players fall down in a heap, and when the wriggling legs are pulled out of the mess, the little brown pigskin shows up, and you can see whether there was a loss or a gain. The real inside strategy can only be guessed at.

But in the heads of those players and their leaders, there is being operated a complicated organization and strategy. Every motion has been worked out in theory and by practice. It is a marvelous example of team work and drill, and the spectator is fascinated just because he can't fully see into it. He is constantly baffled, and teased and stimulated by the effort to see who did the thing, and what they were trying to do.

It takes brains to play football. The fellows who can take those orders in a few swift words, remember just what they mean and work out the pre-arranged plan, show a quick perception that ought to have some value in after life.

"DIFFERENT" DINNER IS OUTLINED FOR THANKSGIVING DAY

By Rhondena A. Armstrong

Home Economies Representative

Thanksgiving dinner without turkey may be unusual but it is quite possible. Many of us think it would not be Thanksgiving without roast turkey, although if the family budget does not include fowl there are other foods that can be made to look just as festive.

The turkey-less dinner, to be a success, must be unusual. I suggest a menu to the weary homemaker who wants something different, but not too expensive, for this year's holiday feast.

Thanksgiving Dinner
Fruit Cup
(Canned peaches, fresh apple, orange gelatin cubes)
Cream of Lima Bean Soup
(Sprinkled with grated yellow cheese)
Croûtons
Baked Individual Squash, filled with Buttered Peas
Mixed Mashed White Turnips and Carrots
Buttered Onions
Sweet Potato Boats
Spiced Pears, Hot Rolls, Tart Jelly
Molded Pineapple and Cottage Cheese Salad
Melba Toast
Individual Pumpkin Pie
(Garnished with whipped cream, meringue, or a dab of jelly)
Cider

Most of the foods suggested are farm produced and are to be found on the abundantly stocked shelves of the thrifty woman who cans and stores the surplus garden products.

Fruit cup is a good beginning for the meal because it is so colorful. It should be served cold.

Lima bean soup sprinkled with grated cheese should be served generously as this dish supplies the building material usually received in meat. Croûtons are made by toasting small pieces of cubed bread in the oven until they are brown and crisp and then floating a few on top of the soup.

The main course is nothing less than a vegetable plate. Small individual squash filled with peas is a new way of serving two common vegetables. Carrots and turnips mixed, give a pleasing New England touch. Sweet potato boats are made by stuffing sweet potatoes, adding, a marshmallow, honey, or brown sugar, and browning.

Muffin tins or custard cups are fine for molding the gelatin salad. If this is served as a separate course, a small piece of melba toast might be served with it.

Individual pumpkin pies, the shells of which can be made on inverted muffin tins, give a last touch of novelty to this Thanksgiving dinner menu.

But the menu is not the only thing that makes the meal a success. Little things can convert even an ordinary dinner into a feast and so an attractively set table is important. Thanksgiving is an excuse to use the best tablecloth and the choicest china and silver. Harvest and plenty may be suggested in the centerpiece by hollowing out a pumpkin and filling it full to overflowing with bright red apples and other fruit, possibly a bunch of grapes or a cluster of radishes. This is colorful and has the advantage of being inexpensive. Even bright vegetables in the orange, yellow, and brown colors are effective.

An addition to the centerpiece may be candles. Under the flicker of candlelight the humblest meal takes on a party air. Orange or yellow candles are lovely in brass or old pewter candle holders, but a tea cup fitted with an orange crepe paper skirt can be used nicely as a holder.

Mrs. Betty McVaine, Swain street; Miss Myrtle Compton, Langhorne; Misses Natalie Anderson and Helen Zavlin, Trenton, N. J., attended the Princeton-Dartmouth football game at Princeton, N. J., Saturday.

Home Heating Hints

by JOHN BARCLAY

IN A recent article I outlined the proper way to bank the fire. In this connection there's one additional bit of advice that I want to give you: Never bank your fire with anything but fresh coal.

The old fashioned practice of banking the fire with ashes will not only result in unsatisfactory heat but it will cause you no end of trouble. You can see yourself that when you throw ashes on top of a fire it acts like a wet blanket and prevents the air from coming up through the fire-bed. It is this air that carries the heat upward away from the grates. When you put ashes on the fire the concentration of heat causes overheating of the grates and fuses the ashes on the grates. Moreover, the next time you put coal on the fire it won't burn because the ashes will prevent proper draft action.

The only place for ashes in the furnace is the ashpit—except for the thin layer of ashes on the grates. Don't mix ashes and live coal.

Don't burn rubbish or garbage in furnace. They cause heavy soot to cake on surfaces and waste heat and also cause clinkers to form. Keep ashpit clean.

BEEF GASSES COUPLE

PARIS — (INS) — A joint of beef has killed a man and nearly suffocated his wife at Metz. The woman, Madame Kreyer, put the beef into the oven to roast. While it was cooking, she and her husband took a pre-dinner nap before the kitchen fire. The meat began to burn—but the couple went on sleeping. Finally neighbors, alarmed at their long silence, broke the door down. They found the young couple had been overcome with fumes from the burning meat. M. Kreyer was dead but his wife recovered after artificial respiration had been applied.

ANDALUSIA ELEVEN WINS NINTH STRAIGHT

ANDALUSIA, Nov. 26 — Playing strictly defensive ball in the first period, the Triple A's found themselves on their opponent's eight-foot line as the gun barked, ending the first quarter. From here Lang broke through the center of the line for 40 yards, and six plays later took the pigskin over for the initial score.

In the third period, E. Wilkins literally cracked his way for the second touchdown, and several minutes later H. Wilkins took the ball out of the ozone and raced 45 yards to score standing up.

The playing of the Andalusia line was a coach's delight for hole after hole was opened repeatedly and their defense was way above par.

H. Wilkins, Vogel, Roeger and Rankin stood out for Andalusia, while Graham starred for the Tacony Aces.

Ex-Champs In Comebacks

By BURNLEY

Flouting that time-honored fistic tradition which asserts that "they never come back," three former world's champions are trudging the steep road back, trying to regain their lost titles.

Primo Carnera and Jack Sharkey, a couple of ex-heavy kings, are apparently anxious to expose themselves to the murderous fists of Joe Louis, for some reason or other. Da Preem has already suffered considerable damage from the deadly wallop of the Brown Bomber, but the vast Venetian is a glutton for punishment and wants to do it all over again.

It must be conceded that Carnera looked exceptionally good in stopping Walter Neusel in quicker time than Max Schmeling was able to do the trick. Preem was the boss from the start in this fray, and the blond Teuton never had a look-in.

The big fellow gave Louis a much tougher scrap than Baer did, and if they can teach him to pick off Joe's overhand rights, he might cause the Detroit Devastator more than a little annoyance.

It must be remembered that Jolting Joe was unable to tag the Italian with his famous left hook, but was forced to rely on long right hooks to bring down the huge man from Mussolini's land.

As for Mr. Sharkey, who launches his comeback campaign shortly, he professes to believe that he has just the style to beat Louis, being a cagy, clever boxer when he is in the mood.

Al Singer, former lightweight ruler, is the third ex-champ now staging a comeback. Al showed a lot of his old stuff when he punched around a couple of rough kids recently, and as the present 135-pound crop is decidedly below par, he may really fight his way back among the topnotchers.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

By ANN PAGE

ALL poultry is attractively priced for the Thanksgiving holiday. Beef, lamb, pork and veal joints are moderate, and a roast will be a good choice. For Sunday dinner, there is no left-over Thanksgiving turkey. Favorite holiday vegetables including sweet potatoes, broccoli, rutabaga, cauliflower, celery and spinach are inexpensive.

Navel oranges are expected in market this week. Florida oranges are again being sold in five pound bags, and the quality is good. Other holiday fruits, pears, tangerines, Satsuma oranges, kumquats and Emperor grapes are all moderately priced. Pecans are specially low priced. There has been little change in the price of eggs, and butter is higher. Menus for Sunday include the use of holiday left-overs.

TWO SOCCER GAMES ARE PLAYED BY GIRLS' TEAMS

The Girls' soccer tournament opened Friday afternoon at Bristol high school field.

The first game was between the senior academic section and the junior commercial section. The teams handed in the following line-ups:

The teams were well matched, each played with less than the usual number of players, and this required each one to play just a little harder. The opening games were played under favorable weather conditions. The first half was scoreless. The juniors kept the past champions fighting every second of the game. The second half being in play for only five minutes determined the score. Flossie Wright, left wing, scored for the senior squad. Fine playing was displayed by both teams.

The acting captain for the seniors was Claire Ruth; and the juniors' acting captain was Rose Monaco.

The second game showed two strong teams, the 10-C-2 and 9-4.

This game portrayed excitement galore. The girls showed fine sportsmanship and playing. The fighting freshmen kept the sophomores at a standstill. Three five minute periods were awarded to make a score. The ball was kept in freshmen possession for a long period, but when the Sophomores took the ball up the field they played to win. Mary Ann Duffy ended the game with a goal, giving a 1-0 score.

Coch Margaret Pope and Phyllis Wichser acted as referee and time-keeper.

SEVERAL PLAYERS SIGN TO PLAY BASKETBALL HERE

The weaker teams of the Bristol Amateur Basketball League will be strengthened for their coming games in the league circuit. This was indicated by the signing of several players last night at a meeting of the league held in the Hibernian Hall, with President Thomas Juno presiding.

The basketball court is expected to be filled to capacity Friday night as he circuit resumes play after a week's layoff. The St. Ann's team last night signed two players from Langhorne to build up their scoring power. The Saints' meet the undefeated Moose club and is expected to give the Mc-

Guinley-managed club a tough tussle. Manager Vito Della went into Morrisville to get several players to bolster his club in an effort to topple the Odd Fellows from the peak in the league standing. Manager Della now feels that his club is beginning to click and will give the clubs plenty of trouble for the remainder of the season.

Marty Fallon, of the Hibs, is looking for a center which is all he needs to balance his club which has suffered two straight reverses. Jack Boderwick, lanky center, formerly with the Morrisville High School team, has become the possession of Manager Charlie Hendricks of the Y. M. A.

With the re-organization of Common Council New Year's Day, the municipal body will have two Democrats and six Republicans as members and one of the important matters will be the election of a president. Councilman Paul Nicols, Republican hold-over of the Second Ward has been prominently mentioned, but Councilman Elwood Kohl, Republican hold-over from the First Ward, has also tossed his hat into the ring. Mr. Kohl stated that because of his fine work as chairman of the street committee he is entitled to that post again but he has tossed his hat into the ring for the presidency and if his fellow members feel that he should be elected to that post he would have to accept the honor.

Mr. Kohl has made it plain that while rumors have been afloat that he may resign, he does not expect to quit until his term has expired two years from now. He added that the people of his ward elected him to carry out certain principles and that he did not expect to let his constituents down after they elected him.

John Conover, Sergeant of the New Jersey State Police, will address a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association in the high school auditorium this evening, November 26th. This will be a safety meeting and the general public is invited. Pupils of the fifth and sixth grades will give a safety sketch, and Richard Allen, in charge of the School Safety Patrol, will present the boys to the meeting. The poster contest will also be held at this meeting when pupils of the third, fourth and fifth grades will present their efforts. Miss Mildred Arms and Miss Myra Arms are in charge of making the posters. Mrs. M. R. Reoter, Mrs. John Anthiel and Mrs. Marion Harm are on the committee of judges. Miss Carol Shuster, Miss May Yoder and Miss Kuip are on the committee to purchase the prizes.

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary will send Christmas cheer to the veterans in the Coatesville Hospital and to the orphans of veterans in the Scotland Orphans Home at Scotland, Pa. Six Christmas boxes will be sent to the veterans and gifts to the orphans. The auxiliary will hold a card party to which the public is invited in the Legion Home Monday night, December 9th. Mrs. Clarence Bodine is chairman of the committee.

The tenth annual banquet of Camp 297, P. O. of A., was held in the Mystic Chain hall, and 45 women attended. District President, Mrs. Louis Townsend, of Bristol, addressed the meeting. Following the dinner, cards were enjoyed. Mrs. Allen Miller was chairman of the committee.
